A Patient Story

Rigo Manzo – Why is
GHPP so important?

How Do You Apply?

- GHPP application and referral forms are available on the GHPP "How to Apply" page at <https://www.dhcs.ca.gov/services/ghpp/Pages/Apply.aspx>
- You should submit 2 months prior to when you need the insurance to kick-in, but this will not always be possible, so complete all paperwork as soon as possible when requesting GHPP eligibility.
- Be sure to include both Part A and Part B (and do not forget to initial all sections). You also must include your most current tax return, a copy of your CA ID and proof of residency.
- New applicants must include medical reports which confirm an eligible medical condition. The list of conditions is on the GHPP website.
- Documents can be submitted via email, fax or mail (this information and the website information will be posted on our website). Email is the easiest to document and least likely to be lost. Always keep a copy of what you submit and document when and how you submitted it.

Accessing Services

- People with bleeding disorders, on GHPP, are strongly encouraged to use a Hemophilia Treatment Center to manage their care.
- You can find the nearest HTC by checking:
<https://dbdgateway.cdc.gov/HTCDirSearch.aspx>
- People with sickle cell, on GHPP, also have a network of care centers under development –
<https://www.scdfc.org/find-a-doctor>
- For other reference, you can check GHPP's website for providers. You are not required to use these providers, but since they are familiar with GHPP it may be easier to access services:
<https://www.dhcs.ca.gov/services/ghpp/Pages/GHPPProviders.aspx>

How Do You Renew?

RENEWAL REMINDER

- GHPP beneficiaries must renew annually.
- The process is similar to the original application.
- Typically the department will mail out renewal applications two months prior to expiration of eligibility. HCC recommends you mark your calendar and complete your renewal immediately at that two month mark to avoid delays and expiration of your eligibility.
- Application is the same and can be downloaded from the website -
<https://www.dhcs.ca.gov/services/ghpp/Pages/Apply.aspx>
- All the same documentation is required, except the documentation of the genetic condition.

Common Causes for Enrollment or Renewal Delay

- Missing Photo ID.
- Missing verification of California residency.
- Missing verification of income (previous year's tax returns). Keep in mind that if sources of income have changed since last year's taxes, that should be documented and included.
- Pending Medical Eligibility.
- Incomplete application – for example, no designated specialty care center.
- Also, double check you initialed and signed all the required places.

Health Insurance Premium Reimbursement (HIPR)

- GHPP may pay client's share of premiums for their employer-sponsored health insurance.
- GHPP clients that qualify for HIPR include those with: Hemophilia, Cystic Fibrosis and Sickle Cell Disease.
- Clients who are ineligible for HIPR:
 - Clients who receive Medi-Cal.
 - Clients who receive Medicare.
 - Clients whose health insurance premium is 100% employer paid.
- HIPR does not cover copayments or deductibles.

What to Watch for...

- BIC Card – we've been told all GHPP beneficiaries should have a benefit information card. Please be sure you keep this safe (as you would an insurance card) and carry it with you, as it may help you access services.
- Don't depend on GHPP to send you your renewal information – you should know your renewal date and mark your calendar to apply two months prior.
- Providers may be unfamiliar with GHPP and you may need to assist them with understanding your benefits.
